Education must play a significant and interventionist role in remedying imbalances in the socio-economic fabric of the country. Education is not only an instrument of enhancing efficiency but also an effective tool of augmenting and widening democratic participation and upgrading the overall quality of individual and Society.

Once student is coming from class X to XI Science, there is huge difference in terms of syllabus and type problems expected in competitions and school exam. There are about 86 chapters in PCM and much more in PCB whereas total weeks available in two years for study is about 80 only so students need to be mentally prepared for two tough years for achieving high goal of life. It is worth to concentrate for two years of XI and XII and achieve success for throughout life. Otherwise struggle will continue whole life with less joy.

For better performance and easy journey of two years a strong a foundation is required so it is advised to the students, rather parents have more role at initial level, to wake up early and start deciding the career goal and build up strong foundation of the during class VI to X. Students creativity, observation ability, logical thinking, alternate method of thinking and solving problems need to groomed during foundation. They should not only cover the school syllabus in whole year as syllabus is written for keeping view of mass students but not for exclusive target oriented students, good students get enough time to study extra to build up their foundation for future and that will not only make them exclusive but also their journey easy and assured afterword.

Students are mostly confused about when should they study for school and when they should study for competition. Best way is to do both parallel as syllabus is almost identical for both. Board examination is mostly rely on facts and concepts and some of the questions they also ask from application point of view but it is mostly of repetitive in nature, so previous years collection of papers will be of great help. Whearas simultaneously if you are studying for JEE/AIPMT where all the time new questions are expected to come, then along with facts and concepts we need to focus more on application ability and in-between line reading ability. Hence if we have once completed a chapter with JEE/AIPMT level it means we have done all concepts at school level also, we may just revise the same chapter with NCERT/GSEB text book and note down points in short as notes. Thereafter practice the entire problem from exercise of the book and then previous 10 years problems came in board. I am sure it will assure above 90% marks in board. Then you can more focus on practicing for competitive exams.

Time management is one of the most crucial aspects for preparations of any competitive examinations like JEE/BITSAT/AIPMT/AIIMS/GUJCET or even the Board Exams. A student who can efficiently map out a plan which increases his/her productivity in terms of preparations and cuts on wastage of time stands a good chance of making it through with a exceptional performance.

As children, our minds were engrained with the saying time and tide waits for none. Many a souls have pondered over this and neglected it conveniently. This results often in haphazard studying right before the exam; leaving out certain chapters, keeping sections unrevised till the last minute, lesser practice which leads to undue stress and tension.

HERE ARE SOME TIPS TO MANAGE YOUR TIME FOR EFFICIENT PREPARATIONS.

1. Study Area:

Having a good study area can make a huge difference to how well one studies.

2. Find out about the exam:

Study has to be done in a proper format so that one doesn't end up studying too much, or leaving out some part of the course. Hence, find out about the format of the exam. It'd also be important to know the weightage of particular topics which can be found with the help of previous year papers. 3. Make A Study Timetable:

It's best to make a short term study plan for like a week at a stretch.

4. To Do Lists:

Make a to-do list before each study session. Breaking tasks down into small, manageable tasks will make it less overwhelming.

5. Wallpaper:

Write down key concepts you have to learn on small sheets of paper followed by examples of how they are used. Post these sheets around your room, e.g. your bed, on the toilet door, in the walls of the room, etc. It helps with remembering things like math equations, tables, organic chemistry conversions, etc. Write down key concepts you have to learn on small sheets of paper followed by examples of how they are used. 6. Take Regular Breaks:

Taking short breaks at regular intervals is much more effective than taking a long break after a long interval.

8. Revise and practice (don't just re-read):

Sometimes just reading through notes or continuously practicing numericals doesn't result in complete understanding

9. Avoid Procrastination:

Prograstination is basically the distraction that keeps you away from what you are supposed to be doing. It is normal to procrastinate a little. However too much procrastination can just add to stress and can result in you not giving yourself enough time to prepare.

In the end, personal will is all that matters. Journey is tough with full of unknown hurdles, so if one is determined in their mind to work with single minded devotion towards their preparations, then success is assured.
